Avery
Adobe (a software company) makes an industry standard program called Acrobat that converts documents, pictures, etc that are in any format from any other program to a special file with an extension seen as (.pdf) .
Adobe also makes a reader program called, interestingly, Acrobat Reader, that you can download and install on your computer for FREE Go and get this program, here . . .
http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep2.html and you will be able to forever onward read pdf's . .
I have attached a pdf to demonstrate this neat system . .
regards
Jim Kinnear
www.pianoguy.com

----- Original Message -----
From: Avery Todd
To: Pianotech
Sent: Monday, May 02, 2005 3:42 PM
Subject: Re: Grand opening of David Andersens Private showroom Los Angeles
Terry,

It's in Adobe (PDF)? I had the same problem. The original post was in Claris Works.
Dale posted it on the list today (?) in that.

Avery

At 02:09 PM 5/2/05, you wrote:
Anyone care to share the news? I haven't been able to open any of the attachments.

Terry Farrell
----- Original Message -----
From: Michael Spalding
To: Pianotech
Sent: Monday, May 02, 2005 11:44 AM
Subject: RE: Grand opening of David Andersens Private showroom Los Angeles

Dale, Dave, and Steve,
Very exciting news. Congratulations. One of the few times that I'm sorry I don't live closer to the west coast.
Mike
----- Original Message -----
From:
To: pianotech@ptg.org ;caut@ptg.org
Sent: 5/1/2005 11:39:56 PM
Subject: Grand opening of David Andersens Private showroom Los Angeles

Dahling . . .
I always have Jim look after me . .
And my piano
KINNEAR PIANO SERVICE
444-1334   www.pianoguy.com
TUNING - REPAIRS - SALES - MOVING - APPRAISALS